Bandwidth = number of simultaneous connections x encoded stream size.

Commercial Products available for live streaming.

1. Stream Provider

- Youtube.com for non-profits is relatively new program and very promising. Streams Live and records for later.
- Livestream.com – free and commercial free on basic limited account.
- Ustream.com, justin.tv... plenty to choose from.
- Mediaserve.com – pay as you go streams.

Broadcasting Equipment.

- Intel i5-i7 3.0ghz quad core computer, Windows or Mac with a minimum of 8gb ram and 1 Terabyte hard drive. Two monitors help but one will do. HD USB camera, 2 would be better. IP Cameras are even better. Each camera needs a separate USB bus card in the computer.
- You'll need a separate computer for Propresenter or Powerpoint for the in house projection. Encoding is cpu intensive so don't bother trying to do it all on one computer.
- Audio needs to be fed from your live mixing console.
- Internet connection capable of sufficient upload bandwidth. Isolate the router from all other WiFi or in house activity.

Suggested Software

- Wirecast – full version, multiple cameras and streams as well as recording to disk.
<http://www.telestream.net/wirecast/overview.htm>
- Wirecast for Youtube – Free version for non-profits to use on Youtube. Limited functionality.

- Adobe FMLE 3.2 - Free to use but limited to flash output.

- Livestream.com
Free web based tools.
